Wallingford developed in the early 1900s as a streetcar suburb with a thriving commercial core along N. 45th Street, once called the Wallingford Hill district. This tour spotlights the area south of this commercial corridor on the slope of Wallingford Hill, with its rich collection of popularly styled early-20th century homes, as well as artistic and natural sensory delights. Explore these highlights in any order.

Please remain on publicly accessible paths while observing features highlighted in this brochure.

Scan the QR code on the front of this brochure for image credits and a tour map with more images, richer descriptions of each feature, and additional points of interest.

This five-unit building is a great example of multi-family housing from one of Walling-ford's big growth spurts. Built in 1925-26, it shows influences of the Bungalow Court design and features Tudor and Colonial Revival elements.

Tattoo Shop Mural 403 NE 45TH ST This 2014 mural by Alester Forx, also known as Cabron, is inspired by a 1940s photo of Danish tattoo artists at Copenhagen's Tattoo Ole, which claims to be the world's oldest still-running tattoo shop.

Monkey Puzzle Tree 1809 N 41ST ST

The distinctive monkey puzzle tree is the national tree of Chile. Its prickly, scaly needles radiating from long spiraling branches inspired its name, as climbing the tree would puzzle even a monkey.

Latona Grocery
319 NE 42ND ST

Yoshitomi and Toku Shimomura purchased and ran the Latona Grocery in the 1930s in order to fund their son Eddie's college education at the University of Washington. He became a pharmacist. Their son Michio graduated from Lincoln High School in 1940.

Wallingford Playfield
N 43RD ST & WOODLAWN AVE N

Artist Majken Ryherd collaborated with children to design the community mosaic at the Boys & Girls Club courtyard. View the impressive mosaic from

Boys & Girls Club Mosaics
1310 N 45TH ST

N. 45th Street.

Sidewalk Stamps N 41ST ST & BURKE AVE N

Hans Pederson was one of Seattle's most prolific builders in the early 20th century. Concrete sidewalks he built are stamped with his name, like those at the southern corners of 41st and Burke.

Some 2,500 people gathered in 1925 to dedicate the new Wallingford Playfield. Opened shortly before Hamilton school, it provided recreational space for students and the community. It expanded in 1969-70 following the City's removal of 16 houses and a church.

The Latona School was built in 1906 as one of 19 wood-frame schoolhouses in Seattle based on a model plan. The 8-room, Queen Annestyle schoolhouse is now the John Stanford International School.

Latona School
4057 5TH AVE NE

Melrose Exchange
4136 MERIDIAN AVE N

Look down! This circular cover in the parking strip along 42nd sits atop what appears to have been a coal hole, enabling the easy delivery and storage of coal to the building. What does the cover spell?

These whimsical mosaics by artist and homeowner Lynne DeLano will stop you in your tracks.

Every telephone call in Wallingford used to go through this building. Built in 1921 as a telephone exchange where operators connected calls, it's been home to artist studios since the late 1970s.

Snapshot-worthy Mosaics
4335 BURKE AVE N

Residence & Snake Handrail
4332 MERIDIAN AVE N

Built in 1908 as a single-family residence, it was first converted to 2-family flats in 1918 and later to 3 living spaces. Don't miss the stonework along the sidewalk and the coiled snake hand railing at the front porch.

Queen Anne Cottage 4023 2ND AVE NE

This distinctive Queen Annestyle cottage was built in 1891 and is one of the oldest surviving houses in Wallingford. It was the longtime home of Anna and Arthur Castelton, a leader in the Seattle Iron Molders Union Local 158 in the early 1900s.

Gift of Grace Lutheran Church 2102 N 40TH ST

The Gift of Grace Lutheran church was built as the Zion Lutheran Church in 1950-51. It provides Wallingford with some interesting architecture and stained glass windows, in addition to a working 'urban farm' that includes a flock of chickens and an on-site pre-school.

Twin Craftsman Houses

4030 DENSMORE AVE N and 4025 WALLINGFORD AVE N

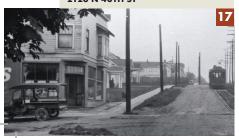

The Outlook, a community newspaper published under various names, was printed in the basement of this Craftsman-style home from 1922 to 1970 and delivered by local newsboys like those shown here.

The Outlook
4203 WOODLAWN AVE N

This spot has been a hive of neighborhood activity since a grocery opened here in 1912. Today, Irwin's Bakery & Cafe pays tribute to the old Irwin's Grocery & Market that opened in 1923.

Irwin's Bakery & Café 2123 N 40TH ST

Brochures found at our Neighborhood Sponsors August 1 to September 15, 2023

VERITY CREDIT UNION

4545 Stone Way N

CEDARHOUSE FLOWERS

1621 N 45th St

YAZDIWallingford Center

RS

SO

SPON

Δ

Z

ഗ

YOU VOLUNTEER

SLAVE TO THE NEEDLE TATTOO

1815 N 45th St 403 NE 45th St

Historic Wallingford Volunteers

Sarah Martin, Project Manager Linda Sewell, Brochure Design Tyson Baty Lynne DeLano Joice Denend Dennis McCarthy Jean Werner

This is the second in a series of Exploring Wallingford activities.

It was produced in 2023 by Historic Wallingford, an all-volunteer organization dedicated to fostering an awareness of and appreciation for Wallingford's history and architecture.

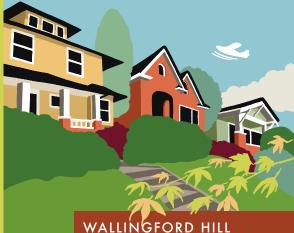

Summer & Fall 2023

These twin houses were built in 1913 by Joseph Parker for developer Henry Brice, who together built speculative houses in Wallingford. These houses reflect their repetitive use of a few popular small-house plans. Don't miss the brick and cobblestone chimney.

Heritage Cherry Tree 1508 N 41ST ST

This Yoshino cherry tree (Prunus yedoensis) is designated a Heritage Tree by the City of Seattle. It was planted by Hilma Lindquist Johnson, an early Wallingford resident, not long after the house was built in 1942.

Discover Seattle's
Wallingford neighborhood through this self-guided tour featuring natural, historical,
and artistic points of interest on Wallingford
Hill, between 40th and 45th streets. Take your time and explore at your own pace!

HISTORICWALLINGFORD.ORG